

Seven timelines, two endings

History does not run on one track. Heaven, Israel, the church, the empires of prophecy, the earth itself, fallen man, and Satan each have a line of their own in Scripture. They do not all end in the same place.

The chart draws the seven side by side so you can see what is happening on each at the same moment. The book follows the same seven twice: once through the age we live in, and once through the seven years of the tribulation.

Watch where the lines go. From the return of Christ, Israel's line and the believer's are woven together. At the end heaven's line and the earth's meet them, and the four are woven into one where all things are made new. The prophetic line ends there, because by then every word of it has come to pass. Fallen man's line and Satan's go down to the lake of fire. Choose a line to follow it on the chart, or a chapter to see its subject there.

Timeline	Before the tribulation	During the tribulation
Heaven's	1The Author and Subject of Prophecy	8While Judgment Falls on Earth, Heaven Erupts in Celebration
Israel's	2God Is Not Done with Israel	9In Their Distress, They Will Finally Seek His Face
The believer's	3What Is Sown in Dishonor Is Raised in Glory	10God Never Leaves the Earth Without a Witness
The prophetic	4This Is Where All of Human History Is Heading	13Comply or Be Erased
The earth's	5The Instability in Nature Is Not Random	11The Creation Is Being Undone
Fallen man's	6People Will Call Good Evil and Evil Good	12What Began at Babel Goes Back to Babel
Satan's	7A Defeated Enemy Operating on Borrowed Time	14His Power Is Not His Own